

Andalusian kindergardens introduce tablets among its teaching methods

LOCATION: Benalmádena (Málaga)

DURATION: 1:25

SUMMARY: Twenty Andalusian kindergartens have introduced tablets as a usual tool employed in their teaching methods aimed at children since two years old that can easily handle new technologies. The employed material has been developed by an enterprise with Andalusian participation that has created a series of characters that catch children's attention due to its colours, music and the possibility to interact with them.

VTR:

He is barely three years old and he knows how to use a tablet.

CHILDREN

"I like playing with the tablet a lot because it is very fun."

"Daddy has one."

INÉS DOMÍNGUEZ
Minus is better

"It is obvious that children already have special skills for new technologies, so they develop an incredible ability with any mobile device you give to them. It is much easier for them using a tablet than a pencil."

That's why this Andalusian kindergarten has introduced tablets as a teaching tool.

'Los Peques' Kindergarten

"Because this is day to day and we can't say no to the advances of our environment."

DAMINÁN PULIDO
Teacher at 'Los Peques'

"Tablets are a resource that helps us a lot, they help us reinforcing the knowledge children have acquired."

And them, since two years old, are glad with this innovation.

CHILDREN

"Because it has more colours"

"They have cartoons, we touch them with our fingers."

But using a tablet doesn't mean that they have left other more traditional practices behind, as activity cards. However, in this kindergarten they assure that with the tablet...

'Los Peques' coordinator

"I consider learning very significant."

Twenty kindergartens, most of them Andalusian, use this method, able to seduce small but exigent users.

KID

"See you! Goodbye!"
