"You enter the stop mode, hit the brake pedal and start. When you hear this sound the car is already started."

This way the Hoteliers Association of El Auténtico at Cabo de Gata make the tourism of this natural park in Almería completely sustainable. But how? Putting electric cars at the disposal of their clients for free to travel around the area; a pioneer experience in Spain.

OTI PEÑA
El Auténtico Cabo de Gata Association

"We are the only natural park in Spain that offers clients a service to go from one establishment of the association to the other in electric car for free."

The clients of the four establishments which are part of this association are glad with this initiative because...

ORIOL SISTACCH
Manager Cala Grande Hotel

"It is a free service offered by the hotel. During the check-in we inform clients that they have two electric cars at their disposal, to use and enjoy them whenever they want. In addition, it gives a good image having a sustainable car in a protected natural environment."

They are comfortable cars, easy to handle and careful with the environment. They have been working not for long but they are starting to become very popular.

BELÉN RUIZ
Tourist

"I couldn't believe how comfortable it was and it is highly recommendable. Other friends who have also come to this hotel also recommend it and I think it is a great service."

More than a hundred clients have tried these silent and sustainable cars; with an autonomy of 120 kilometres. At night they are charged for seven hours in conventional plugs. And in the morning they are ready to visit every corner of this wonderful natural environment.
