VTR:

Learning Spanish in family and enjoying holidays, that's the offer of Spanish for Families, an initiative of two entrepreneurs to teach languages born in Granada.

Almudena Sánchez
'Spanish for Families'

"We want them to experience the language. That's why we put them in real situations, in which they have to speak Spanish."

Ambience

"Where is the bakery, please?" "Where is the bakery, please?"

So foreign families learn Spanish in everyday situations they organize a series of activities to examine, step by step, these students.

Julia Abad
'Spanish for Families'

"Making them doing activities and visit places that either way, without the company of Spanish people, they wouldn't be able to."

They organize tours and cultural visits, and apart from having classes, they must interact with other people, for example, buying some bread.

Ambience

"How we say 'how much is it?'. "We say: ¿Cuánto es? ¿Cuánto es?"

For people who chose this type of holidays it is the best way to get to know the destination they visit. Language tourism is rising and for example, in Granada, employs ten thousand people and leaves benefits of forty million euros.

"I like this type of holidays, because you get to know the real Spain."

TOURISTS

"It is very good for knowing people, the customs...."

This initiative offers families, apart from learning and company, the possibility to stay with local families in some towns in Granada.
