

More security with and app able to open your door

LOCATION: Almería

DURATION: 1'17"

SUMMARY: A security company from Almería has created Openapp, an app that allows users to get rid of keys, as it is able to open our home's door, all we need is a cell phone and access to the Internet. It also allows users to send invitations to other people so they can access the facilities, or even, to open a door from anywhere in the world. The app, which is aimed at private customers, communities of neighbours, companies or large corporations; creates a file where the access to the facilities is registered for greater security.

VTR:

To open this door we just need access to the Internet and our phone. Losing your keys is not a problem anymore, thanks to the app created by a security company from Almería.

JUAN GABRIEL GARCÍA
Grupo Control

"We just need to download the app and sign-in on Grupo Control. They install a device, which is connected to the Internet, in our lock, we click on open, and that's it."

But this app has more to offer.

JUAN GABRIEL GARCÍA
Grupo Control

"We can send invitations to other people so they can access a home, a business, an establishment, whenever we want; or open a door from anywhere in the world with access to the Internet."

Thanks to this app, aimed at private customers, companies or large corporations, Cruz Roja Almería could get rid of numerous sets of keys that were shared among the 1.000 volunteers that the association has in Almería.

MAR JIMÉNEZ
Cruz Roja Almería

"We respond to social emergencies, or emergencies such as, for example, migrant boats. So, the assembly is closed at that time because it is out of business hours. Before, we had to share sets of keys."

This tool, which is also aimed at communities of neighbours, creates a data record that allows users to know who enters the common areas such as the entrance or the garage.

ÓSCAR MUÑOZ
Property manager

"We can control, anytime, who is allowed to enter or who doesn't, providing greater security to the community."

An app that makes the lives of the users more secure and comfortable.
